ALLOWABLE SUBJECT MATTER

1. Claims 1-38 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Upon close review of the claims, the prior art and applicant's remarks it appears that the allowance of claims 1-38 is appropriate. The prior art does not teach a first trigger, a second trigger, and a third trigger. Each trigger is specific to a different communication services. The prior art (Tatchell et al) teaches a personal agent enables the subscriber to activate telephone services. The personal agent integrates with CLID and a personal directory for a specific calling feature based on the identified CLID. It is not obvious to modify the prior art so that the three service-specific triggers are determined for different services. These triggers, as claimed, are switch oriented instead of functioning in a personal agent as taught by the referenced prior art.
